PROPOSAL 02-3

Nov. 5th

State employees are a valuable resource. They are dedicated and eager to serve the public. In times of emergency, natural disaster, or just keeping Michigan rolling, state workers are there. They deserve working conditions that are fair and not used for political gain.

The Civil Service System has become increasingly more politicized. The Civil Service Commission has gone from an independent panel overseeing state employment, to a partisan lobby for special interest. State employees are subject to the whims of the politically appointed commission. State employee contracts have been changed over 100 times after they have been signed by employee organizations and the state.

Proposal 3 would change that by asking the voters to change the state constitution to give state classified employees the right to true collective bargaining with binding arbitration. This is the same right State Police have had since 1978 and that police and firefighters across the state have had since 1968.

Proposal 3 would bring fairness and a level playing field to contract negotiations and by having an independent arbitrator settle disputes, it would guarantee that there are never any strikes.

Collective bargaining can save tax dollars by helping to control the billions of dollars that are spent annually on contracted state services, much of it spent in other states or countries. Currently Michigan taxes are spent in places like Chicago, Wisconsin, Denver, even Nova Scotia. Wouldn't those tax dollars be better spent in Michigan?

State employees fight crime and fires. They help ensure that food is safe to eat and water is safe to drink. They keep criminals behind bars and our roads safe in bad weather. A yes vote on proposal 3 makes sure that Michigan stays a safe and healthy state to live in.
