the Oppermann Brothers will entertain audiences with a concert at the Northport Community Arts Center. Call 386-5001.

AUGUST

■ August starts in a mellow way with the Sleeping Bear Dunegrass & Blues Festival on Aug. 2. The day-long festival, which spotlights the music of area bluegrass, blues and folk performers, is held outdoors at Empire from 10 a.m. until sunset and includes arts and crafts displays, food booths, a kid's tent, and shuttle rides to nearby Lake Michigan beaches. Call 326-5249.

■ Interlochen presents Dance Cuba on Tuesday, Aug. 5; k.d. lang on Friday, Aug. 15; the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra on Saturday, Aug. 16; Tori Amos on Tuesday, Aug. 19; David Sanborn on Wednesday, Aug. 20; and Susan Tedeschi on Thursday, Aug. 21. Call (800) 681-5920 or 276-7800.

■ On Aug. 2 and 3, the Riverside Shakespeare company returns to Traverse City's Hannah Park with a free production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Call 941-4953.

■ The weekend of Aug. 7-10 is when fans of "great music, great fun and great food" head east to Johannesburg for Farmfest, an annual celebration of country, bluegrass, folk, Irish music, blues and reggae. This year's lineup includes Allakomi, Wendy Walker & 1st Nation, Casper Lomayeva, the Rust Belt Boys, The Blue Water Ramblers, Kirby, Ron Fowler, Cathi Norton, Potato Moon, Millish, Wanderin' Wheel, Yid Vicious and Madcat's Cosmic Boogie Band. Call (989) 786-3273

■ Fans of 19th century brass band music will be thrilled by an Aug. 9 appearance of the Dodworth Saxhorn Band in the Northport Community Arts Center. Call 386-5001.

■ For the past few years, jazz aficionados have been trooping to Petoskey each summer for that community's Jazz Festival. This year the festival will be folded in with several other events — and several other musical genres — in an all-new celebration called the "Festival by the Bay." Call 347-4150.

■ On Aug. 16, the Kalkaska County Parks and Recreation Department holds its annual Blue Grass Festival
