

IN THIS ISSUE

COVER STORY:

Bride and Groom

Getting married in serious style.

Pages 9-12

Music made for matrimony

Today, it's more than just "The Wedding March."

Page 3

Traditions old and new

Touches that put the "you" in "nuptials."

Page 5

Gowns that were truly special

Brides look back at their wedding dresses.

Page 6

Hot honeymoon destinations

Cruises make a comeback; Hawaii is still hot.

Page 14

Family affair

Both sides pitch in to plan a perfect wedding.

Page 16

Eternally yours

Bridal gown preservation.

Page 18

On the cover:

From the top: Model Natasha Lapinski checks her lipstick, wearing an Alfred Sung gown at the Grey Hare Inn in Traverse City; Lapinski sporting the Hype line of mules from Fetish in Traverse City; Lapinski and Bzdok wear wedding rings from Federico's Design Jewelers in Traverse City. Hers is an Alfred Butler-designed pave diamond wedding set; his is a stainless steel ring with a small diamond in the center. Photography by Record-Eagle.

(Photos by Elizabeth Conley)

The Wedding Planner is an annual publication of the Traverse City Record-Eagle. For information, write:

The Wedding Planner
Record-Eagle P.O. Box 632
Traverse City, MI 49685

Editor & Designer: Rick Gould, 933-1407

Advertising:
933-1465

Circulation:
946-2187

Record-Eagle/Elizabeth Conley

Special thanks goes to models Chris Bzdok and Natasha Lapinski, who appear on our cover story starting on Page 9. Though they make a striking couple, off-camera they are just good friends.

A' cachet couture

Fine Wedding Apparel

Opening in Traverse City: June 2003

January 2003-June 2003

Individual showroom appointments available prior to opening.

We are pleased to announce the opening of A' cachet couture, a studio collection of couture bridal attire. We offer discerning women a selection of wedding gowns created in fine fabrics of Italian Silk, satins, and French lace.

Also featuring

Heirloom quality head adornments of semi precious stones and fine Austrian crystal

Designer bridal shoes and accessories

Please call toll free:

866-298-2100

to set an appointment

