

SHOW

Continued from Page 3 for all members of the family, and that over the years, the number of younger guests has greatly increased.

"That's a wonderful thing, because more and more families have gotten into boating lately, and whole families come together so that they can collectively make decisions and plans for how they're going to experience all this great water we have around us here," shared Carney.

"If you think Traverse City is beautiful when you drive around it, then look at it from the middle of the Bay. Anyone who has done that knows what I'm talking about.

It's pretty obvious that this is a great place to enjoy boating and fishing, which makes it natural that there should be a show like ours going on. If there's any aspect of time on the water that you're looking for information on, or whether you're brand new or a seasoned pro, you're going to find it here, and maybe even a few things you hadn't counted on."

Admission to the Boat Show is $4 for adults and free for children 12 and under. There are two-for-one coupons available in the new Money Mailer packets or that can be printed out by visiting the Grand Bay Marine website at www.grandbaymarine.com. For more information on the event, call (231) 943-0333 or (231) 933-0914.
