Heritage Day is Tues., July 5

The National Cherry Festival will celebrate the heritage of the region with a Native American Pow Wow Dance, a colorful display of dance and drumming music. Tuesday, July 5, is the Festival's Heritage Day, presented by Grand Traverse Resort and Casinos.

A tradition at the National Cherry Festival is the noontime Pow Wow Dance, presented by the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians. The colorful display of dance includes native dress and music from days gone by. Heritage Day activities at the Festival Open Space offer visitors an opportunity to explore exhibits featuring handmade crafts from the region's Native American communities. In addition to crafts and artists, many elements of our local and regional history will be highlighted through re-enactments presented by area historical organizations, like the Mattis and Maritime Heritage Alliance.

Back by popular demand on the roster of Heritage Day activities is an Old-

Fashioned Family Picnic at the Park, presented in cooperation with the Grand Traverse Heritage Alliance and the Grand Traverse Heritage Center. The picnic event will be held along the banks of the Boardman River on Sixth Street, near Union Street at Hannah Park. The Old-Fashioned Family Picnic at the Park will feature family games like potato sack races, tug-of-war, wheelbarrow races and, of course, the not-to-be-missed cherries on a spoon race. A picnic lunch will be served at the park from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The cost is just $3 for adults and $1 for kids 12 and under. A portion of the proceeds will go to the Grand Traverse Heritage Center.

An evening parade is traditionally planned to honor the heritage of our area, too. The AAA Michigan Heritage Parade will step off in downtown Traverse City at 7 p.m. Tuesday evening. Following the parade, visitors will find cherry sundaes at the Country Fresh Ice Cream Social at the Festival Open Space.
