Ferraro Builders

Premier Homes of Exceptional Quality

When we were considering which local area builders to feature in the Homes of Distinction, we really wanted to identify a builder that is "head and shoulders" above the rest. When we talked with Mike Ferraro, of Ferraro Builders, the choice became very clear.

Ferraro Builders is renowned for its uncompromising attention to both the client and the details. But we wanted to understand what really separated Ferraro Builders from most others.

"It's our commitment to our clients to exceed their expectations of craftsmanship, quality, performance and service. This commitment is underpinned by our guarantee of an enjoyable and satisfying building experience. Moreover, it's about doing the right thing; it's about uncompromising integrity. What we offer the client is an exceptional home, peace of mind and a significant return on their investment."

We asked Mike to tell us a little bit about their process. It all starts with a vision. He explained that a project manager works with each client right from the beginning, refining that vision and building trust. This also means the project manager works with the architect or designer on the architectural issues and assisting the client with all product selections, interior design and decoration.

"The whole building process can be overwhelming. We take away a lot of the worries by orienting the client to the process, working elbow to elbow with them and guiding them through the myriad of decisions."

It doesn't stop there. Once
